LAND OFFICE DECISION.

Husband and Wife Cannot Maintain Separate

Residences and Secure Two Homesteads. WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.-Land Commissioner Groff has rendered a decision in the case of May Barr, formerly Wasson, a resident of the Mitchell, Dak., land district. It appears from the testimony that in July, 1885, Mrs. Barr, then a resident of the State of Iowa, went to Dakota on a visit to a friend, and while there was informed that a certain eighty acres adjoining a tract then recently entered by Michael Barr, was subject to homestead entry. She accordingly entered it, purchased a small house and had it moved on her claim; broke one acre and made other improvements. At that time, she says in her testimony, she had no intention of marrying Mr. Barr, but later they married, "when they moved the houses up close together on the line and sodded them up all around on the outside, making one house; they were then papered; that Mr. Barr, put his bed, stove, table, etc., in his, and she put a bed, a stove, table, etc., in hers; that there is no means of communication between the two different parts of the house, except by going outside, each part having an outside door; that she acted in good faith in making the entry, not knowing Michael Barrat
the time, and having no understanding

Mrs. Barr's claim is rejected on the ground that husband and wife cannot maintain separate residences at the same time and in the same house, so that each, by virtue of said residence, may perfect an entry under the homestead law. It is said that there office similar in all important respects to the case of Mrs. Barr.

MARITIME CONFERENCE.

Foreign Delegates Beginning to Arrive-The Session to Begin Next Wednesday.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 .- Delegates to the International Maritime Conference are beginning to arrive. The first to report was Captain A. M. Bisbee, the delegate from China. He is an American who has been for many years connected with the Chinese imperial customs.

The Chevalier Raphael Settebrig, captain of the royal navy, Italy's delegate, has reached this country and will be in Washinton within a day or two. The conference will meet Wednesday of next week, holding its sessions in the lecture-room of the Columbian University. Arrangements for the formal opening have not yet been announced, but it is probable that Secretary Blaine will receive the delegates in the diplomatic parlor, State Department.
The conference expires by limitation Jan.
31, and will probably sit out its full term.
Lieutenant Staunton, who has had charge of all the arrangements for the conference, and had been designated as secretary, has and had been designated as secretary, has been detailed as flag officer of the Chicago, under acting Admiral Walker, and will be succeeded in the conference by Lieutenant Cottman, who has been on dutaat the branch hydrographic office in New York, where he has come in intimate contact with the merchant marine of the country, and his experience will make him particularly valuable in the work of the conference. Lieutenant Staunton may go into ence. Lieutenant Staunton may go into the conference as one of the secretaries by temporary detail. The American delegates, headed by Admiral Franklin, will meet in Washington on Monday for consultation preliminary to the conference.

Mr. Durbin Secures Some Appointments and Extra Allowances for Anderson Postoffice. pecial to the Indianapolis Journal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.-Mr. W. T. Durbin, of Anderson, who is a member of the Republican State central committee, visited the departments to-day before his departure for New York, and as a result of his labors some appointments will be made from Madison and Hancock counties. Mr. Durbin secured the promise of an extra allowance for the Anderson postoffice yes-terday. Anderson will probably have free-delivery service within the next year. The office now shows net receipts aggregating at the rate of $12,000 a year, when only $10,000 is absolutely necessary to secure free

Hon. Samuel J. Randall's Health.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.-Hon. Samuel J. Randall, the tariff protictionist leader on the Democratic side of the House, has arrived in Washington. He does not look like the very sick man he was so recently reported to have been. Mr. Randall, in fact, looks about as vigorous as he usually dees, and says he feels better than he has for some time. He, however, acknowl-edges that he is not the physical man he was three or four years ago. He believes he will be restored to health by the time Congress convenes.

Consul Lewis Cited to Answer Charges. WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 .- Secretary Blaine yesterday heard the story of M. Benezuli, the Morocco merchant, whose complaint against Wm. WABASH, Oct. 11.-At Andrews, a railroad town twelve miles east of this city, Dr. W. S. Brandon lies at his home in a critical condition, the result of rough usage at the hands of engineer Jas. Brown, of the Wabash railway, who was smarting under a stigma which the Doctor has placed upon his family name. Brown lives in Toledo. He was formerly a resident of Andrews, but moved to Toledo some months ago. Dr. Brandon is married and has two children, while Mrs. Brown is the mother of five children. Last week Dr. Brandon drove to Warren and, it is supposed, took the Clover Leaf train for Toledo. In that the Clover Leaf train for Toledo. In that city the Doctor was seen by two of Brown's fellow-engineers, who followed him to Brown's house, the latter being on the road at the time. On Wednesday evening of this week Brown appeared in Andrews, with his witnesses, and hunted up Brandon, who denied having been to Toledo. Brown immediately attacked Brandon, and would undoubtedly have killed him had not by-standers interfered. The Doctor was frightfully beaten. Depredations of an Unknown Brute. Special to the Indianapolis Journal

CLAY CITY, Oct. 11.-For some time an unknown man has been prowling around in the woods near this place, attacking women. Last week he assaulted a girl by the name of McCann, and attempted to assault a daughter of Mr. Haviland, but failed in the attempt through the timely arrival of the girl's mother. Last Saturday night a villain, supposed to be the same man, attacked Mrs. Miles on one of the streets of the town, drew a revolver and threatened to shoot if she made any noise, but she screamed and the brute escaped. But his worst deed was performed yester-day. While Clara Werner, the sixteen-year-old daughter of Lewis Werner, living two miles from town, was on her way to school, this same man attacked her on the public highway, and, knocking her down, dragged her some distance from the road and accomplished his purpose. He then took to the woods. The alarm was given, and the girl's brother and a constable started in search. If the fellow is caught it is believed he will get justice without any process of law.

Struck an Artesian Well. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

Кокомо, Oct, 11.-The Diamond Plateglass Company opened a gas well near this city to-day, in which a strong flow of ar tesian water is mingled with the gas. The water, which rushes up to the full capacity of the six-inch casing, is hurled 150 feet in the air. It is flooding the country, and the alarmed farmers in the vicinity are at work plowing trenches to carry it off.
Nothing like it has ever been seen in Indiana. and people are flocking by thousands to see the great sight. There is a powerful flow of gas, and it the water can be cased off, which is doubtful, the well will be the best in the field. It shows a pressure of over 400 pounds to the square inch. How to get the monster well under control is puzzling the brains of the owners.

Waif Abandoned to Die.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.-Considerable ex citement prevailed here, to-day, on account of the finding of a two-weeks-old child in an outbuilding in the southwest part of the city, at an early hour this morning. The infant was found lying on the floor, and attracted the attention of the neighbors by its cries. It was poorly dressed and appeared as though it had been poorly cared for. Supposition is that the party which left the child intended throwing it in the vault, but was frightened away by the barking of a dog. Suspicion rests on two strange women who stopped at a hotel here yesterday and acted in a very mysterious manner. One was seen with nursing-bottle similar to the one found with the child.

Object to Contaminated Water. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

PERU, Oct. 11.-The Common Council o this city is taking a determined stand in the matter of the probable pollution of the Wabash river water from refuse and poisonous substances to be injected therein by the Diamond Match Company's works at Wabash. The ground is taken that the water will be untit for use and detrimental to the city's health. To properly ascertain the facts in the case, committees have been appointed. One committee reports an analysis of water taken from Wildcat creek, at Kokomo, where similar works are located, showing it to be a deadly poison to all animal life. The investigation will be rigid, to prevent any evil results to the people here through contaminated water.

Farmer Turns Highwayman. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WABASH, Oct. 11 .- A young farmer named William Null, living a few miles north of this city, was arrested to-day, charged by his neighbor, Levi Hummel, with highway robbery. Hummel was accosted by Null late at night, when Null presented a re volver, in border fashion, and demanded Hummel's cash. The latter promptly comptied, turning over all the valuables in his possession. Null admits the crime, but says in explanation that Hummel shot at his dog. Null was placed under bond in the sum of $1,000.

School-Book Muddle.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal CLAY CITY, Oct. 11 .- The Indiana schoolbooks have made a pretty muddle in our schools. AT THE NATIONAL ARMORY.

South American Delegates View the Process of Making Springfield Rifles.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 11.—The delegates to the international congress went to sleep last night in New Haven, Conn., and opened their eyes this morning in Springfield, Mass., having slipped from one State to another without being aware of the fact that the cars had moved during the night. Before they had eaten their breakfast Alderman Murphy and Captain Blunt, who is attached to the Springfield armory, boarded the train and acquainted the excursionists with the programme for the day. At the station the party was joined by Colonel $5,000 and $10,000, respectively, for stating | Buffington, commandant at the arsenal, members of the municipal government, and a number of prominent citizens of the place. After the formal introductions had been made the visitors were placed in carriages and driven to the armory, the Morgan envelope-works, where all the stamped envelopes used by the government are made, the Smith & Wesson arms-works, and other places of interest.

The national armory was full of interest for the visitors, who saw 500 men at work turning out 140 Springfield rifles a day, beginning with rough blocks of steel, which, by the gnawing teeth of various cutters and the action of drills and riflers, were gradually transformed into the perfect implement of warfare. The new pattern of bayonet, a sharpened ramrod, which is adjusted in place of the ordinary bayonet, came in for critical examination by the delegates. The party left the armory as a salute was being fired in their honor. After a pleasant drive through the suburbs they were given an elegant luncheon by the citizens. The train again started at half past 1 o'clock.

As Brightwood was passed a salute of powerful steam whistles attracted the attention of the delegates to a car factory, where they saw on a siding several new cars built for use in Chili, and learned their destination from gilt letters on the side of the train. A committee of the Holyoke Manufactur-ers' Association welcomed the excursionists at Holyoke, where they arrived at 2 o'clock. They were at once shown the magnificent dam across the Connecticut river, and one of the most modern paper-mills in full operation. At about half-past 3 o'clock the train started for Albany, stopping long enough at Springfield to take on Mr. Bliss, who, with Mr. Henderson, represents the United States delegates.

The trip from Springfield to Albany was one of rest. It was the longest uninterrupted run since the journey began. Soon after 9 o'clock the train drew into Albany. The party at once went to their hotel where they surrendered themselves to local committee. Meantime, outside the hotel, the streets were thronged. Red fire was burned at well nigh every corner. The was burned at well high every corner. The facades of buildings on the route to the Capitol were illuminated with lamps and Chinese lanterns, and all the street and curb space was crowded with people. The party entered carriages, and, preceded by a band and the Tenth Battalion, of Albany, were escorted to the City Hall, where they were welcomed by Mayor Maher. Thence they went to the Capitol, which was brilliantly illuminated at every window. In the executive chamber, Governor Hill received the party. The Governor, after welcowed ceived the party. The Governor, after welcoming the visitors to the State, expressed regret that their stay within its borders was to be so short, assuring them that they could not do the State justice in their rapid spin from Albany to Buffalo.
Following the personal greetings of Governor Hill, the party inspected the Capitol building, after which, in company with Governor Hill, all went to the Fort Orange Club, where hospitalities were extended. The party will remain over night, and leave the city at 11 A. M. for Niagara Falls.

MINERS MANGLED IN A COLLISION. Disregard of an Order Results in a Serious and Fatal Railway Accident. MARTIN'S FERRY, O., Oct. 11 .- A collision occurred two miles west of Bridgeport, at 6:30 o'clock this morning, between the miners' train of two passenger coaches, containing about seventy miners en route to the Wheeling Creek coal-works, and a freight train of twenty-one cars southbound. Both locomotives were demolished, and also two passenger cars and eight freight cars. The collision was caused by a misunderstanding of the freight conductor. The freight train had orders to look out for the work-train and not pass the Wheeling Creek mines until after the arrival of the work-train. This order was disregarded, and the collision resulted. A miner named Moore has died from his injuries. The list of killed and injured, as far as could be obtained, is as follows: Killed, David Moore. Injured, Samuel Tracy, three ribs broken and injured internally will die; Nathan Clay, bruised about the head and body, probably fatally hurt; David Richardson, arm broken in two places and shoulder dislocated, but will recover; John Johnson and Thomas Marden. legs crushed, very serious; Wm. Stitt, leg and foot crushed, but will recover. Eight or ten others were injured, but their wounds are not serious.

A man living near the track, seeing that an accident was inevitable, signalled to the work train, which was coming in the opposite direction at a rapid rate, and the engineer succeeded in slacking his speed considerably. This probably averted great destruction of life. The total number injured is twenty-five.

An Aged Cousin of the Missouri Senator Suffering through His Negligence.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11 .- Mrs. John L. White, an educated Southern woman of family. and a cousin of Senator George B. Vest, of Missouri, is living in humble quarters at No. 188 Rebecca street, in circumstances of extreme destitution. Her life has been one of sickness, trials and tribulations for a number of years, and Tuesday night she was shocked nearly to death when her eldest son, Frank M. White, was brought home in a patrol wagon with his left leg crushed, having been run over by train. Mrs. White has five children. The eldest child, Edna Withers, a daughter of her first husband, Captain Withers, son of Gen. Jones M. Withers, of Alabama, is a very pretty and vivacious girl of eighteen years, and as she expresses it, "You can see by my parents I am a Southern girl to the core." Frank, Edward, Pearl and Clara are children of Mr. White, who is a direct descendant of Peregrine White, the "Mayflower baby." It seems that Mr. White was told four years ago that if he remained in Chicago his health would be shattered. He was given a position traveling. His headquarters are now in Ashland, Ore., where he is working for a small salary, part of which he is compelled to send to his family. After all these months of toil he has not as yet succeeded in saving enough to pay for transportation of his family there.

Mrs. White is a dark-eyed and sad-faced woman of remarkable education. Her appearance conveys to the visitor the idea that she has seen better times. She was seen by a reporter after she had spent hours at the bedside of her suffering son. Her story is a follows: "We are, indeed, in destitute circumstances, but if my cousin, Senator Vest, had done as he said he would we would have thousands of dollars. My father, Commodore J. E. Montgomery, of the Confederate navy, the man who fought so bitterly at Memphis, purchased twenty five steamboats at Natchez, intending to embark in the cotton trade. The first boat he named the Little George in honor of George Vest. Well, the war came on, and he was forced to sink his vessels in a bayou near Lake Providence, Louisiana. After the war he returned to the boats representing his fortune—some $900,-000—and began to raise them. Captain Eads came with an order from the United States. came with an order from the United States government and said he was authorized to use the machinery of the boats in building the jetty systems. My father disputed his claim and it all ended in the filing of papers in Washington upon which my father could obtain his money by proving ownership. "Yes, and I was in the Senate chamber when he introduced it, and I'm so mad be-cause he said he introduced it by re-quest," interrupted Edna, and her eyes snapped in true Southern style.

My pride was too great to allow me to go and see him when he was here with the meat investigation committee. Father is now seventy-five years old, and is getting feeble. We have had a hard struggle between sickness and poverty for some time, but, thank goodness, we have never called upon any of our rela-

STILL FAST IN THE MUD. A Fleet of Tug-Boats Make Unsuccessful Attempts to Float the City of New York. NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The big Inman-line steamer City of New York, which ran aground in the mud of Gedney's channel, on Wednesday night, on her incoming trip from Liverpool, still lies with her bow over seventy-five feet in the mud, in the same spot where the accident occurred. All the determined efforts of her engineers and the continued tugging of the large fleet of boats that went to her assistance failed to pull the unfortunate ocean racer from her perilous position. Before noon to-day the efforts to drag the vessel, in her present condition of the the mud, were abandoned and the tug-boats took off their hawsers and withdrew from the scene of the accident. The Inman-line agents then dispatched two steam lighters to the vessel for the purpose of relieving the steamship of the weight of her cargo. The cargo consists of general merchandise, and it will probably require until to-morrow night to complete the task. Before the steam tugs left her they succeeded in turning the vessel around so that now her stern points to the west, instead of to the south, as yesterday.

President Clement A. Griscom, of the Inman company, states that nearly all the rumors eirculated about the grounding of the City of New York are exaggerations or misstatements. It is untrue that she has sustained any damage by the tug-boats pulling her, or from any other cause. She lies comfortably, and when sufficiently lightened, which work is going on rapidly, she will float off the shoal spot into deep water. which is about her length astern. She was in charge of a pilot when she ran aground and was about entering the usual ship channel to this port.
